Nutrition for the skin

Long before the benefits of Green Tea were discovered for skin therapy, Chinese Emperors of Song Dynasty enjoyed its taste and flowery aroma. This magic herb was prized by the Chinese for relieving fatigue, strengthening the will, and enhancing vision. It is an important ingredient in the Chinese elixir of immortality. Today its potent antioxidant powers can help your skin look younger, longer.

The Science

As an antioxidant herb, Green Tea has been clinically proven to help prevent skin cancer. It is used here to help release surface toxins on the skin.

"As a paraplegic, I have an increased chance of having my skin break down leading to pressure sores. My life depends on having great skin! I have tried many skin care products over the years to help my dry skin, but with no results. One little bar of Green Tea Soap has changed everything! For the first time in 12 years I now have soft, silky, sexy and seductive skin! I will never be without my Green Tea Soap! It is now on my monthly auto ship!" – Paula K., (state,)
